Ascension Day -To-day is held in all the Anglican and Catholic Churches throughout the orid as the enniversary of the Anscension of our cord into Heaven. After his resurrection he re-Ascension is measure viven in Scripture. St. Luke is is usen in its gospy! simply these words: (Ch. xxiv. 51). "And it came to pass while he blessed them he as pursed from them and carried up into heaven." The same apostic in Acts. [9, 10, 11, says: "And stook he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up, and a cloud received him out of treir yight. And while they looked steadfastly overard heaven as he went up, behold two men stood or them in shining apparel; which also said, "Ye seen of Geillies, why stand ye razing up into heaven? The same, Jesus which is taken up from you into leaven shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." The isstitud in the Catholic Church is maked as a holiday of obligation, and a centre of the first-class. The vestments are white. High Masses will be sung to-day in all the churches, at the Catholic darches will all have special services. A built choral service will all have special services. A Alban's a special service of poculiar solemnity will take place.

SHIPWRIGHTS, CAULKERS AND JOINERS .-A mass meeting of these tradeamen was held last evening at Clinton Hall, Astor Place, under the auspices of the Workingmen's Union, for the purpose of expressing their sentiments in relation to the expitation. The ball was crowded, and the audience was very enthusiastic. Mr. John Reed, Presidence was very enthusiastic. Mr. John Reed, President of the Workingmen's Union, was called to the chair, and there were four vice-presidents and six secretaries ejected. Mr. Reed made a few remarks, in which he condemned some of the New York press for publishing scurflous articles against them. He contended that a man could do so much work in eight hours as in nine. A series of resolutions were then adopted of which the tollowing is an abstract;

Not to resume work until the demand that eight. Not to resume work until the demand that eight. Thanking the societies and individuals who assisted them in the movement. Resolving not to use harsh er igdecorus language in reflutation of charges preferred against them by their "salf-styled masters," and condemning the daily papers before alluded to. Resolving not to given their bages and dissolve their organization, and not to accept work on the master shipwrights terms. Denying the assertions of their employers, that they are striking for a reduction of two hours daily, because they worked from sunrise to sunset; that they established a uniform raise of wages or compelled their employers to hire in erior men, because the latter employ whom they please at the lowest price, and charge the merchants the highest price; that they demand as much wages for eight hours as fer nine or ten; that they unjured themselves by their action, and drove the work out of the city, and asserting that they are the best judges when an injury is inflicted on them, and laugh at the logic that they are diving the work out of the city; preclaiming through the enlightened and honest portion of the prees that their course was proper, &c.

Speeches in advocacy of the resolutions were then

Speeches in advocacy of the resolutions were then adjourned.

FIRES .- About 5 o'clock yesterday morning, a fire broke out on the third floor of the building corner of Grand and Baxter streets, occupied by Frederick & Co., manufacturers of photographic who does. Considerable damage was sustained by the occupants of the lower floors by water. The loss of Frederick & Co. is estimated at $1,500; insured. The second floor is occupied by James Green, scientific instrument maker. Loss on stock about $800; insured. The first floor is occupied by P. Cafferty, grocer. Loss by water, $500; insured. The building is but slightly damaged.

MR. ACTON AND THE SUNDAY LAW .-While Commissioner Acton was was in his place on Tuesday, attending to the applications for licenses, and inveighing against drink on Sundays, an Trishman present handed him the following, which was set to the tune of "Widow Machree :

Misther Acton, me lewel, ye shtan' in our light,
Och, hone! Acton asthore:
But to knock off our lush on a Sunday's not right,
Och, hone! Acton asthore.
Ye may sci-on, as plasses ye, yet have a care.
There's loss this will meet you, fair everywhere,
An' whin you are hung, plase the Lord, I'll be there.

And cry-Och, hone ! Acton asthore !

But shtay, 'pon me sowi, the thruth I will tell, Och, bone I bless you, me boy! Ye've smashed up the grocers, that's all very well, Och, hone! Bully for you!

Ye see, Misther Acton, that is'nt rhyme, but iff ye read the next three lines, you'll find it's raisin, and may pass current (current.)

But "sellin' in packages" is jist as bad. For by it the husband will soon be made mad. Jist go the whole hog, or the case will be sad. Och, hone! murther in Irash!

[That isn't rhyme aither. But in plain common reson, ye are ax'ct not to allow grocers to seil, by bot Ues. That has ruined many a poor man. How de

COURT OF OTHE AND TERMINER.-THE HOMICIDE OF PATRICE DUBLAR.—SENTENCE OF THE COURT.— Liquos no Excuse.—The prisoner in this case, Edward Johnson, was indicted for the murder of Patrick Duniap on January 12th, 1866. It appeared that the prisoner while under the influence of liquor, got into an altercation with the wine of the deceased, and a quarrel ensuing, stabbed him, causing his decrease. The accused, by his counsel, offered a plea of mansiaghter in the third degree, which was accepted by the District Attorney. In scattering the prisoner, Mr. Justice Ingraham used the following language: The offence for which you have been indicted was the crime of munder, and, although the District Actorney has thought it consistent with his day to accept a plea of mansiaughter in the third degree, it is by no means clear that you wou d not have been convicted of murder in the second degree it all the circumstances attending the transaction could have been piaced before the jury. You took the line of a festive beam without necessity. You suffered yourself to be excited with liquor and became engaged in a quarrel with him, and without any necessity of so doing for your own protection, you seized a knife and stabbed him so as to caue his acash. The difficulty in all these cases a less from insultance in liquor, and then the realiness to use knives or other dangerous weapons without any cause to justify. The sentence of the Court is that you be impresended at bard labor in State's Prison for the term of three seems." rick Dunlap on January 12th, 1866. It appeared that

THE SAN FRANCISCO BOND ROBBERY-DISCHARGE ov THE ACCUSED .- John Lambert, who was arrested sharged with being connected with the San Francisco bond robbery, was discharged yesterday by Commis-stoner Osborne holding that there was not sufficient swidence or probable cause to hold the accused for arising the control of the course of the cou

THE JUNEL WILL CASE.-The argument on the notion to postpone the trial of this case, on account of the absence of an important witness, was resumed in the Supreme Court Chambers yesterday, before Judge Barnard. The Judge, on the conclusion of the arguments of the respective counsel, took the papers and reserved the decision.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.—A large number of cases were disposed of in the Court of General Ses ions yesterday by Judge Russel:

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.—Boarding-House Keepers and Runners Arrested.—Winfam Churchill, Timothy Tracy, Edward N. Laffy and Thomas J. Ross. keepers of emigrant and sailor boarding-houses, Wil liam Maitland. Peter O'Donnell and James ningham, runners, and Timothy Monshan and John ningham, runners, and Timothy Monshau and John Smith, were arrested by the Harbor Police on a charge of having boarded the English ship Cordalera, in violation of a recent law passes by the Legislature in relation to loarding ships in the port, with unicensed small boats or vessels. The prisoners were taken before Justice Dowling. As these were the first arrests under the new law, of which the accused professed to be ignorant, the Magistrate dicharged them with a reprimand. He said, however, that in inture the law would be rigidly enfo.ced.

Arrest of Picknockets.—Wm. Mahoner and Let.

Arrest of Pickpockets .- Wm. Mahoney and Ja-Riley were arrested, yesterday, on a charge of hav ing picked the pockets of Mrs. Mary A. Sherman, o Williamsburgh, while attending the anniversary the Home for the Friendless, in 29th street, in Lexington avenue. The lady caught one of the poners in the act and recovered her waller, when we of the accused ran away. They were pursued a arrested. Justice Ledwith committee them trial.

charge of having, on the night of the 1st inst., en tered the premises of John McCarthy, No. 13 Chat ham street, and stolen $172 worth of goods. It is alogsed that John II. Stewart, who kept a saloon at 10 Oliver street, received a part of the propyris, knowing that it was stolen. Stewart was arrested, and Justice Dowling committed both of the accured, ta default of bail.

son were arrested on a charge of having stolen a hale of cotton belonging to Volney Aldridge. The cotton was found in ressession of the accused, and Justice Dowling committed them for trial in default of bail.

Burglary and Robbery .- On Tuesday night, the store of F. Leonard, cor. of Allen and Grand sts., was entered by burgiars, who succeeded in obtaining $1,5:0 worth of clothes, with which they made their escape. No arresis have been made.

LICENSES. - The Brooklyn Police captains yesterday granted 20 applications for licenses, making in all up to the 8th inst., 307.

ASSAULT WITH A HAMMER. - Robert McNally, landlord of premises in Gold street, near Tillary, was brought up yesterday on the charge of striking Mrs. Rosa Ohoro in the head with a hismmer, and injuring her so severely that it was found necessary to convey her to the hospital. The woman had been a tenant of McNally, who dispossessed her, but she refused to leave and hence the trouble. McNally is held to await the result of Mrs. Ohoro's injuries.

SERIOUS GAS ACCIDENT .- About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, there was an alarm of fire in the Second District, caused by the burning of some inflammable material in the basement of No. 8: Montague street, occupied by Mr. E. H. Southworth. It appears that Mr. S. attempted to ascertain a leakage in the gas pipe by means of a lighted match. Being in the immediate vicinity where the finid was escaping, it caught fire, and Mr. Southworth was badip burned about the face and hands. The damage to property was slight.

SOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH .- The pews of this church, corner of Court and President streets, were put up at auction on Tuesday evening, and the sale realized $1,200, which being all that was absolutely required, further proceedings in that di-rection were suspended. The first choice brought a premium of $150, the second $125.

ROPEMAKERS' STRIKE A FAILURE. - The roung men and women employed in the Eastern district ropewalks, who have been on a strike for come time for the ten-hour system (having previously worked from 11 to 15 hours a day), yesterday cenciuded to return to work under the old system, and the majority of them were taken on again by the bosses. The girls were the last to give in, and many of them decisal that they would never have done so if the men had not persuaded them to it. The boss ropemskers of the district are every wealthy class, and among those who most stoutly opposed the demands of the strikers was one gentleman whose annual income is levotted to the Assissor at over $25,000, and another who is classed among the militonaires.

STABLE BURNING .- ARREST OF INCEPDIA-RIES,-On Tuesday night, at a fire in White street, Captain Mullen, of the 46th precinct, arrested a youth, named Jas. Corfield, 17 years of age, on sus-picion of arson. He comessed, and implicated otheryouth, hamed san to held, if years of are, or sup-picion of area. He comessed, and implicated others, two of whom, James Martin and George Lair, aged respectively 20 and 21 years, we subseque any ar-reasted. The three were runners with a flose com-pany, and it is presumed that they set fire to barns and stables for the sake of the run and excitement of attending it. A pediminary examination was held yesterday, and the case was adjourned to Tues-day next.

THE BROOKLYN YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN Association.—The annual meeting of this Associa-tion was held Tuesday evening. The President, Mr. William Edsall, occupied the chair, and Mr. Righter was selected Secretary protem. The minutes of the last meeting were read and propositions for membership received numbering 94, who were received into Association. The Tressurer's report shows the receipts during the past year to be $7,618 54. Expenditures $7,441 29, leaving a balance of $167 .5 in the Tressury. The votal number of members at the piecear time is $1400. The Presuent read the annual report from which it appears that the Association was never in a more prosperious condition. Their rooms were largely frequency—by strangers as went as members, and young men found it a place of much as members, and young men found it a place of much attraction, where being enabled to from mitual acquaintanceship, they could also improve their minds and were this kept from evil associations. The fleading Room is free to all visitors, where members or not. The Labrary had been in the extensively used than before. It comains 3,900 volumes. ALL OWNERS OF HORSES SHOULD have a box of DALLEY'S Grivanic Horse Salve. It makes every man his own farrier, and is warranted to be the test home and cattle salve known. It is in a most convenient form for use, being contained in a large tin box, and therefore is not liable to be weated and broken, as liniments in siase bottles generally are. This salve is perfectly clean, has not are in its composition, and can easily be removed with a little scap and water. It seems almost needless to speak of the vast importance of having this remedy always as band, for many a neglected strain or sprain, not to speak of the many secidents, cuts, bruises, &c., to which horses are liable, has ruined a valuable horse, and rendered him useless for life, when, if this invaluable cure had been applied, all traces of the injury would have disappeared. The inventor feels confident that this article only needs one trial to satisfy the most doubtful of its real merit. He has studied this subject for years, and now presents to the public the result of his resarches, in the shape of a perfect horse ointment. The marvelous success his Magical Pain Extractor has achieved in carring the worst forms of human aliments, such as Burns, Piles, Rheumatism, Corns, Bunnions, Old Sores, &c., ior which all who have ever tried it admit it to be a perfect cure, led him to attempt the same noble work for the horse. Many who have given up their horse as useless, were induced to give DALLEY'S Gaivanic Horse Saive a tria, the result bein, a perfect cure. Do not then give up any horse until a fair trial has been given this ointment. Remember, it cures the worst cases of Galls. Scratches, Cuta, Bruises, Straine, Sores, and Sitiast; it reduces the worst case of Swellings in a few days, and is a certain cure for Inflammation in every form. 60 cents a box. Sold by all Durgit's and Harness Makere, and can be obtained by the dozen or single box at the Oppot of DALLEY'S Magical Pain Extractor, 4/ Cedar at "A. N.Y.

UNCLE INGOT.

"If ever you or yours get five pounds out of me madam, before I die. I promise you, you shall have five thousand; and I am a man of my word." Se spoke Mr. Ingos Beardmore, drysalter and common councilman of the city of London, to Dorthes Elizabeth, his widow sister-in-law, who had applied to him for pecuniary succor about three months after the death of his younger brother, Isaac, her husband. There were harshness and stubborn determination enough in his reply. but there was no niggard crueity. Mrs. Isaac wanted money, it is true, but only in the sense in which we all want it. She was only poor in comparison with the great wealth of this relative by marriage. Her income was large enough for any ordinary-Mr. Ingot said "legtimate"—purpose but not sufficient for sending her boy to Eton, and finishing him off at the universities, as it was the maternal wish to do. Mr. Ingot hated such genteel intentions; Christ's Hospital und been a fashionable enough school for him, and he had "finished off" as a clerk at forty pounds a year in that very respectable house of which he was now senior partner. With the results of that education, as exemplified in himself, he was perfectly sat shed, and if his nephews only turned out half as well, their mother, he thought, might think herself ancommonly lucky. Her family had given themselves airs upon the occasion of her marrying Isaac-'allying berself with commerce, "some of them called it and Ingot never forgave them. He gloried in his own profession, although government had never seen fit to ennoble any member of it, and perhaps all the more upon that account : for he was one of those radicals who are not "snobs" at neart. but rather sristocrats. He honestly believed that noblemen and gentlemen were the lowest orders, and those who toiled and strove the upper crust of the human pie. When he was told that the former classes toiled and strove in their way as much as the others, he made a gesture of contempt, and "blew" like an exasperated whale. It was a vulgar sort of retort, of course, but so eminently ex-pressive, that his opponent rarely pursued the subject.

"blew" like an exasperated whale. It was a vulgar sort of retort, of course, but so eminently expressive, that his opponent rarely pursued the subject.

Ho rather liked his sister-in-law, in spite of hew good birth, and would have, doubtless, largely assisted her had she consented to bring up her children according to his own views: but since she preferred to take her own, he withdrew himself more and more from her society, until they saw no hing at all of one another. He had no in-enion of leaving his money away from his brother's children; he had much too strong a sense of duty for that and as for marriage, that was an idea that never entered into his hard old head. He had not time for such follies), and it was not likely that at sixty five he should commit any such imprudence. So his nephews and nieces felt condient of being provided for in the future. In the present, however, as time went on, and the education of both girls and loys grew more expensive, Mrs. Issac's income became greatly straitened. Her own family very much applicated the expensive way in which she was bringing up her children, and especially her independence of spirit with relation to har tradesman brother-in-law, but they never assisted her with a penny. The young gentleman at Cambridge was there ore upon very short silowance; and they young ladies, whose beauty was something remarkable, affected white muslin, and wore ne meretricious jewelry. Their pin money was very l'mited, poor things, and they made their own clothes at home by the help of a sewing-machine. If Uncle Ingot could have a en them thus dilligently employed, his heart would perhaps have softened towards them but as I have said, they now never got stat chance. Julia, the elder, hab been but six jears old when he had last called at their highly-rentabut diminutive habitation in Mayfair, and now she was eighteen, and had never seen him since. Although she had of course grown out of the old man's recollection, she remembered his figure-head, as he wickedly called his right feat and clearly. When Mrs. Issae saked him to diuner, he declined in a caustic manner,—avowing that he did not teel himself comfortable at the aristocratic tables of the West End,—and sent her a pine-apple for dessert, of his own growing. He haureally no ill-feeling towards his rilatives, although he kept himself so estranged from them; but I think this sort of conduct tickled the old gentleman's kept bimself so estranged from them; but I think this sort of conduct tickled tue old gentleman's grim sense of humor. If he could have found some legitimate excuse for "making up" with his asser-in-law, within the first year or two of their failing out, perhaps he would have been glad to do so; but time so widened the breach, that it was not to be easily repaired. What he had satirically written when he decided her invitation had grown to be true; he rarely went into sonety, and almost nev.r into the company of ladies, and the elder portion of whom he considered invitious and vexatious, and the younger positively dangerous. He had a few old bachelor friends, with whom he kept up a cordial intercourse, and spent with their various feativals of the year, as regularly as they came round.

On the 31st of December, for instance, he never omitted to go down to Reading, and "see the old omitted to go down to Reading, and "see the old omitted to go down to Reading," in the company of On the 31st of December, for instance, he never omitted to go down to Reading, and "see the old year out and the new year in," in the company of iom Whaffles, with whom he had worn the yellow stockings in these sensor days that had passed away more than half a century ago. Tom and Issae had been even greater cromise as boys than Tom and Ingot, but the latter did not like Tom the less upon that account; secretly, I think he esteemed him the more highly as a link ceineen himself and that luckness Isimily whose very existence he yet chose to ignore. Mr. Whaffles had intimate relations with him whenever his sister paid him a visit, and could act as their hostess; but this never happened in the last weak of the year. Tom was never to speak of them to his old friend—that was not only tacnily understood, bus had even een laid down in writing, as the basis of their intimacy.
